Lara has a Five-Point Plan for Safer Local Roads

Lara believes that the key to effective government lies in good governance, transparency and adherence to regulations and policies.

Too often these are neglected by government at all levels - and this can lead to injustice and corruption as well as to simple inefficiency.

She believes that members of councils and other authorities have a duty to scrutinise the working of the bodies to which they are elected.

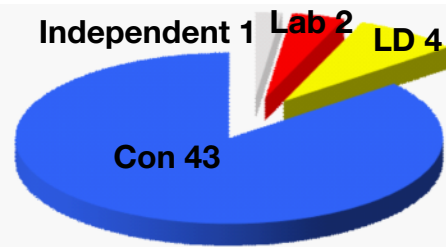

Lara has been a public servant for over 25 years and says,

“It’s Time for a Change. Our local councils - especially Dacorum Borough Council - have become complacent and out of touch.

We need to restore the honourable tradition of public service and bring a touch of humanity back to local government”
